SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS FOR NC COMMUNITY COLLEGE TRANSFER STUDENTS

When planning to transfer to a UNC system campus, keep in mind:

- Be the community college student first: an associate degree (AA, AS or AFA) or have the community college grades before transferring to a UNC system campus. A completed online degree in NC is valued to transfer, but is highly recommended.
- Students who earn an associate degree are guaranteed 65 credit hours and the status of junior if accepted into a UNC system campus.
- Completion of an associate degree does not guarantee admission to a UNC system campus. See your chosen campus for specific requirements.
- Many campuses have pathways to help make transferring easier. For example, UNC-CH offers a list of community college classes a student could take. All must satisfy program and transferable course requirements for the transfer to a UNC campus.

HOW DO I TRANSFER TO A UNC CAMPUS FROM AN NC COMMUNITY COLLEGE?

- Review the Comprehensive Articulation Agreement (CAA), a system-wide agreement governing the transfer of credits between all community colleges and UNC system campuses. The transfer articulation agreement contains many helpful considerations for the transfer to a UNC campus.
